

TASK 7 – MED ALLERGY LIST: REVIEW (WENDY)

Wendy, a 25-year old female, presents with a headache, dull facial pain on her left side, a low-grade fever, and thick nasal discharge. During the exam, she admits to having had these symptoms for the last ten days. After the evaluation, you determine that she has acute sinusitis and plan to prescribe Augmentin. You want to ensure that you do not prescribe anything that would cause an allergic reaction, so you decide to review her list of known allergies that might cause a problem.

1. Navigate to the full allergy list and verbally state whether Wendy has a penicillin allergy.
